WindSoHy CEO, Joe Spease, was a featured presenter at the International Energy Storage Conference in San Diego, held July 12-15. Hundreds of participants from dozens of countries attended this premier energy storage conference where Spease explained important issues confronting wind/compressed air energy storage developers. Spease commented on the growing participation at this annual conference, saying "It is so encouraging to see people from all different parts of the energy industry coming together to support CAES. It's taken a long time for Compressed Air Energy Storage to gain recognition as an important part of renewable energy development, and it's exciting to be a part of it."
